

I oppose the weakening of Indiana's telephone privacy law. This is a clear affront to my right to privacy. I do not care to receive any unsolicited calls from anyone, especially a bank. If the bank needs to contact me they should do so through the mail so my account information would not be at risk. There are several scams involving people who pose as a bank representative in order to get customers account information. Do we really need to enable this practice to increase by allowing legitimate business to initiate contact over the telephone. Once again, I oppose any weakening of Indiana's telephone privacy law.

Thanks,
